It is with great pleasure that we introduce the inaugural issue of the Journal of Educational Analytics (JEDA), a publication dedicated to advancing the field of education through innovative research, data-driven insights, and analytical approaches. This journal is envisioned as a platform for scholars, educators, and practitioners to explore how data and analytics can inform educational practices, policies, and outcomes across diverse contexts.

In recent years, the role of analytics in education has grown exponentially, driven by the increasing availability of data and advancements in computational methods. From assessing student learning outcomes to optimizing administrative processes and designing equitable educational systems, the potential of educational analytics is vast. The mission of JEDA is to bridge the gap between research and practice, offering actionable insights grounded in rigorous methodologies.

The articles featured in this issue reflect the broad scope of educational analytics, addressing topics such as personalized learning systems, predictive models for student performance, the ethical use of data in education, and the integration of artificial intelligence in teaching and learning environments.
